

e o n

If you have any of the following the treatment should not be done:

- pregnant or lactating • active inflammation/infection • dermatitis, rash, open wound
- large tattoos in the treatment area • known skin cancer or undergoing chemotherapy
- scars/scar tissue (must be covered by eon sticker) • recent sun exposure/retinol/AHAs

Warnings include the following + do not necessarily mean ineligibility for eon treatment:

- photosensitivity disorder/use of photosensitizing medications or antibiotics • bmi > 30
- type i diabetes • autoimmune/collagen-vascular disorders (e.g. lupus, scleroderma)
- history of seizures/epilepsy • history of keloid scars • ongoing use of steroids/anti- rheumatoid drugs

PRE • avoid eating a large meal prior / high levels of heat to your abdomen may make it uncomfortable during + post treatment if you are very full • hydrating prior to any treatment as a way to help your body function at its best and help to accelerate your healing time as well as work in conjunction with your lymphatic system + enhance results

WHAT TO EXPECT

- EON treatments typically take 60 min • Lying flat on the treatment table with your abdomen exposed the robotic arm maps the “topography” of your belly customizing its settings to your abdomen’s size and contours • The robotic arm moves over your abdomen (just above your skin) in a repeating pattern to treat the surface area completely + evenly
- You may feel air lightly blowing against your stomach or some warmth

After treatment, you may resume normal activities.

Generally EON is a very comfortable procedure with little to no downtime. In some instances patients have reported minor redness or small hive-like bumps in the treated area. Bruising or nodules are a possibility and if they do develop, you may apply Arnica gel to expedite healing. If nodules occur, this can be improved by light massage of the area at home and generally will subside within a week or two. You can expect to see final results within 12 weeks. After treatment, your lymphatic system gradually “cleans up” and eliminates the treated fat cells, removing them permanently. While the affected fat cells cannot grow, the remaining fat cells can still gain weight, so maintain a consistent weight with diet and exercise in order to preserve your results.

You can choose to schedule repeat appointments to continue to enhance your results
